Overview

Coconut bowls are made from the hard shell left over after the coconut is used for oil, milk and desiccated coconut. Each shell is cut, cleaned, sanded and polished, so no two bowls are exactly alike. Sri Lanka has one of the world's largest coconut industries, which gives craft makers a steady supply of shells.

What we quote

- Natural polished bowls, finished with a food-safe oil, in standard and jumbo sizes
- Lacquered or painted bowls for decor, gift and candle use
- Matching coconut-wood spoons and bowl sets
- Engraved or printed logos, and retail packaging under your brand

What to include in your request

- Product, size and finish
- Quantity per design, and whether you want sets
- Packaging: bulk cartons or retail boxes, with your artwork
- Destination port, and any food-contact testing your market requires

Food contact. Natural polished bowls are usually sold for dry and cold foods. If you need food-contact testing for your market (for example EU or US rules on coatings), tell us and we arrange it on the finished goods.

Packing and shipping

Orders are packed to your instruction and shipped by sea in a full or shared container, or by air for samples and small lots, quoted FOB Colombo, CFR or CIF to your port. Products from several Sri Lankan suppliers can share one container through our consolidation service.

How to get a price: tell us the quantity, your specification and your destination port. We quote FOB Colombo, CFR or CIF, with lead time and minimum order, and arrange samples before an order.

This sheet is compiled from the exporter listing on the date shown. Figures are indicative, not a firm offer. Fields marked "Not stated" are not held on record and have not been estimated. For a firm price against your quantity, destination and Incoterm, request a quote and the trade desk replies with a costed position.
