Overview

We supply frozen squid and cuttlefish caught in Sri Lankan waters and processed on the western and north-western coast. In 2025 Sri Lanka exported about 3,450 tonnes of frozen squid and cuttlefish.

What we supply

Whole, cleaned, tubes or rings, block frozen or individually frozen, in your size grades. For buyers in the European Union we pack in plants on the European Commission's list of establishments approved to export fishery products to the EU, and ship with the health certificate and catch documents the EU requires.

What to tell us

- Species and form: squid or cuttlefish; whole, cleaned, tubes or rings.
- Size: count per kg or length grades.
- Freezing and glaze: block or individually frozen, and your glaze limit.
- Packing: carton size and inner packing.
- Destination and quantity: the market sets the paperwork; cartons or containers, trial or repeat.

Price

The indicative range is based on Sri Lanka's 2025 customs export average for frozen squid and cuttlefish. Species, size and form move the price, so we confirm a firm quote against your spec.

Who you buy from

You buy from Harker Trade Co., the trading line of Harker International (Pvt) Ltd, a registered Sri Lankan company (Reg. No. PV 00338032, Kandy). We buy from Sri Lankan growers and processors, agree the specification with you, and sell it to you under one contract and one invoice, with the export documents in our name.

How ordering works

Send your specification with the quote button on this page. Our Trade Desk confirms the grade, pack and quantity, sends a sample if you want one, and quotes a firm price by email, FOB Colombo or delivered to your port. Payment is by card, Apple Pay or Google Pay at checkout, by SWIFT wire transfer to our bank in Sri Lanka, or by letter of credit for established trade.
