Overview

Sri Lanka makes woven polypropylene (PP) packaging for its own exports of rice, sugar, fertiliser, coir and minerals, and also exports it. Made-up textile articles such as tote bags, sacks and bulk bags exported about US$40 million in 2025.

Products

- Woven PP sacks: for grain, feed, sugar, fertiliser and chemicals, plain or printed, laminated or with liners
- FIBC bulk bags: flexible intermediate bulk containers, also called jumbo or big bags, holding several hundred kilos to over a tonne
- Tote bags: cotton, canvas or woven PP shopping and promotional bags

FIBC specification

Bulk bags are specified by safe working load, safety factor, dimensions, top and bottom spouts, lifting loops and whether they are coated or food grade. Tell us the product you fill and how you handle the bags, and we confirm the design and the test certificate on the sample.

Who buys it

Agricultural and mineral exporters, feed and fertiliser companies, retailers and promotional buyers. Printed sacks and totes carry your logo and product details in up to several colours.

What to tell us for a quote

- The product, grade or specification you need, and a reference sample if you have one
- Quantity per order and how often you buy
- Pack size, packaging and labelling
- Destination port and the Incoterm you prefer
- Documents your market requires, such as a certificate of origin, phytosanitary certificate or lab test reports

Packing and shipping

Orders are packed to your instruction and shipped by sea in a full or shared container, or by air for samples and small lots, quoted FOB Colombo, CFR or CIF to your port. Products from several Sri Lankan suppliers can share one container through our consolidation service.

How to get a price: tell us the quantity, your specification and your destination port. We quote FOB Colombo, CFR or CIF, with lead time and minimum order, and arrange samples before an order.
